

ABSTRACT

A cue tip cap that protects the tip of a pool cue stick and also keeps chalk dust on the tip of the cue stick from flaking off into the carrying case. The cue tip cap comprises a sleeve made of a flexible material that snugly grips the end of the cue stick, covering its tip. A decorative knob on one end of the sleeve enables a person to pull the sleeve off the cue stick. The sleeve has grooves or splines on its inner surface to allow air to escape when it is pushed onto the cue stick. The sleeve can further include felt or cork to protect the tip of the cue stick from a stud that may be used to hold the knob to the sleeve.
